All areas of Kansas need access to affordable high speed internet, both wired and wireless. Kansans need to be able to choose from several providers to find plans that best fit their needs. Competition among providers drives down costs for all Kansans. Give us multiple providers and give us a variety of speeds/plans to choose from. This applies to all Kansans, rural and city, small towns, big towns, and large cities. With the excess of tax revenues, The State of Kansas should be able to invest considerably more money than what the federal government is providing. The State of Kansas should be able to add $250 million to $350 million what the federal government has given The State of Kansas.
