

PROJECT PROPOSAL

Community Green Farms will pursue the goal of distributing new laptops to low resource students and their families in order to meet the need of increased reliable technology. The proposed service area is the five-county area of Cherokee, Crawford, Labette, Montgomery, and Neosho Counties in Southeast Kansas. The community partners will include school leadership at high schools in all five counties. The stakeholders involved include the device management agency, Midwest Distribution. The intended impact of this project will be to provide new devices to be used for personal and professional development to residents of economically distressed communities. The short-term benefits include confidence when using and familiarity with modern technology systems. The long-term benefits include increased technological literacy among the target population and the ability to access the internet on a reliable device.