Kansas Community Empowerment

Administered by Kansas Commerce

This document is designed to help communities interested in Kansas Community Empowerment assess their readiness to participate as an organized group. It encourages reflection on the current level of support, engagement, and leadership among local citizens, groups, and organizations.

The results should be used as a starting point for community conversations about whether forming a Kansas Community Empowerment group is a good fit, as well as for identifying potential partners and participants in this ongoing effort.

In addition to answering the questions, use this form as a tool to begin identifying and engaging individuals and organizations who may be interested in being involved. The questions can guide you in determining who to connect with to gauge interest in sustained community involvement.
